Dog Fat for Consumption

The attention of a reporter was attracted yesterday afternoon while at the dog pound by two boys who were carefully skinning and dressing a dog that had just been drowned according to law for vagrancy.

"What are you doing that for?" was as-

"Fer consumption," replied one of the oys. "Fer a two-dollar bill," said the

It was finally explained that many residents of the east side of the city firmly believe that dog fat is an infallible cure for con-"The boys told you the truth," said Dr.

Ennever, the veterinary stationed at the pound, who was next quest'o ed. "A great many people believe that dog fat and even the flesh of dogs is a sure cure for consumption, and on an average one dog a week is taken from here and reduced to medicine."
"Who come after the n?"

"Generally wom 1, either Germans or Jew". They come up he c, and after carefully examining all the dogs, select one that seems to be healthy and fat. They then point out their selection to an attendant, we to ties a string round its neck or marks the animal in some way so as to identify it. The woman is told on what day that particular beast will be drowned: she returns at the time specified, gets the body and turns it over to some of the hoodlums round here, who for a dollar or two skin it and take off the fat. If she wishes the carcass they dresss it for her just as a butcher would a lamb or calf. Yellow dogs have no value in this way; a black dog is always chosen in preference to any other color, if he is fat and healthy." "How do they take the medicine, as I suppose they call it?" "In different ways. Some reduce it to oil and take it as a liquid by the spoonful; others dry it out and then after it gets cold spread it on bread as you would butter and eat it so.

"Do they eat the meat, too?" "Yes; and, as a matter of fact, it's not bad ea ig. I've tried it myself, though I was rot aware of it at the time. It looks like young yeal.

"Have you any regular customers?" "We had one, a Mrs. Farley, who used to live at the corner of Avenue A and Sixteenth street. She was pretty far gone with consump ion, but she used to come every of er week for five or six months and get a n'ce fat dog. I have not seen her for some time, but I don't think she's dead. Some one to'd me sne was a general thing we Ninth avenue. But as a general thing we This superstition is so general on the east side that many of the drug stores keep dog fat or oil in stock. Tre e are any number of these household remedies for different diseases. Through Vermont and New Hampshire the fat of skunks is used as a cure for croup and rheumatism. Then at the South negroes use dogs' flesh as a cure for rheumatism. The dog must be jet-black or the medicine is without efficacy. When the animal is chosen it is fed on nothing but the lungs and livers of raccoons until it is so fat it can hardly walk, when it is killed and caten. After that if the patient is not cured he is perfectly assured that his pains and aches are attributable to some other cause.' During the last six years over 48,000 dogs have been drowned at the pound. So far this year 3007 have been received, 2674 drowned, 98 redeemed, 3 returned by order of the authorities and 232 are now awaiting death.-N. Y. World.

A WHISTLE TO BE HEARD FIFTY MILES.—The Eaton, Cole and Burnham Company of Bridgeport, Conn., have constructed the largest steam whistle ever made, and recently placed it on exhibition at their office in that city. It is a brass whistle and has a diameter of 20 inches. The bell is 27 inches long, and the whole whistle is four feet and nine inches in length and weighs four hundred pounds. This monstrous tooter—which leaked as it has in recent in the transfer of the leaked as it has in recent in the leaked as it has a diameter of 20 inches. looked, as it lay in repose in its huge packing-box, more like the cylinder of a steam engine than a whistle—will require a boiler of 150-horse power, having a pressure of 150 pounds of steam to blow it. When it is once started its mellow to blow it. When it is once started its mellow notes may not be entirely linked sweetness, but what sweetness there is will be long drawn out to a distance of fifty miles, in fact. Canada, a large part of it at least, is to hear the stentorian tones of this brazen-throated monster several times a day. It will sound from the roof of a sawmill, and will wake the echoes of four counties, terrifying women and children, and clearing the region of wolves, bears and catamounts .- American Railway Journal.
